

Hibiscus Flower Extract (Standard)

Cat. No. EXTW-017

Lot. No. (See product label)

Introduction

Description Hibiscus grows in tropical areas throughout the world, and has been used not just as an ornament, but also medicinally for centuries. The part of this plant used medicinally is the flower. The Hibiscus flower is made into a tea in numerous cultures throughout the world. Hibiscus has a mild flavor and has many culinary uses.

Applications Hibiscus Extract was used by the Chinese to treat dandruff and stimulate hair growth. Hibiscus Extract has also been used to treat hemorrhoids and wounds. Recent research has shown that Hibiscus Extract may have antibacterial properties.

Product Information

Molecular Formula C₁₅H₁₁O

Molecular Weight 207.24

Purity 5.0% Anthocyanins UV

Function Indications: Antivirus, Eye protection