Introduction

|---|---|
| Description | Zinc L-Aspartate is an amino acid chelate that is an important zinc supplement. Zinc is an essential trace element in the human body and is associated with the activity of nearly 300 enzymes in the body. Zinc helps to promote human growth and development, maintain normal human appetite, enhance human immunity, and maintain normal spermatogenesis in men. In addition, zinc also helps to promote the absorption and metabolism of vitamin A and maintains normal optic nerve function. |
