Introduction

Description	Shiitake mushrooms contain large amounts of protein, vitamins, dietary fiber and mineral elements, of which polysaccharides, purines, ergosterol, terpenoids are the main substances that exert physiological activity. Our Shiitake Mushroom Powder is made by grinding the seed part of Shiitake Mushroom into powder, which is widely used in food, health care products and cosmetics. As a nutritious edible mushroom, shiitake mushroom retains its nutrients and functions in powder form for easy use.
Applications	Food: Shiitake mushroom powder is commonly used in soups, sauces, condiments and baked goods to add a naturally delicious fresh flavor while providing nutritional value. Nutraceuticals: As a functional food ingredient, shiitake mushroom powder can be used in immune-boosting, antioxidant supplements to help maintain overall health, especially in the areas of immune support, cardiovascular health and anti-aging.
