Creative Enzymes®

Rose powder

Cat. No. EXTZ-568

Lot. No. (See product label)

Introduction

Description	Rose powder is a powder ground from dried rose petals, which is rich in vitamin C and flavonoid compounds. These components have a strong antioxidant effect, helping to eliminate free radicals in the body and protect the skin from ultraviolet damage, thereby achieving the effect of nourishing the skin and beautifying the complexion. In addition, the organic acids, vitamins, and minerals in rose powder can aid digestion and accelerate fat burning, making it suitable for people with high blood lipids, high blood pressure, and obesity.

Product Information

Form	powder