Lot. No. (See product label)

Introduction

Description	Celery seed essential oil is a natural essential oil extracted from the seeds of celery through steam distillation. It has a unique aroma. The main chemical constituents of celery seed essential oil include limonene, β-selinene, sedanolide, and butylphthalide, among others. These components endow celery seed essential oil with a variety of benefits, such as promoting digestion, anti-inflammatory and diuretic effects, liver protection, skin whitening and freckle reduction, and mood regulation. As a multifunctional natural plant essential oil, celery seed essential oil has a broad application prospect and can be used to develop skincare products, health supplements, and aromatherapy products.
